Decolux soft laser, thanks to the easy and rapid application of pads on specific areas of the body, makes it possible to: favour the energetic rebalancing of cells, restore biological processes with reactivation of microcirculation, facilitate fluid mobilisation, drain localised water retention.

During the treatment, a slight subcutaneous warmth is perceived which allows the opening of the pores, thus promoting the natural absorption of active ingredients contained in cosmetic products applied at the end of the session.

Thanks to its particular action, Decolux is also suitable to counteract several skin blemishes in particular skin orange peel and localised adiposity. Several preset programs guide the operator in selecting the most appropriate treatment to be performed. A very intuitive software with easy-to-follow schemes for pads positioning for each single treatment.

The Tablet is the user's interface: it is also possible to select commands remotely, facilitating the operator in adjusting parameters with both visual and voice assistance.
